Voice Principle

● SMV & Jr. College Pirale

I served as the Vice Principal and English Lecturer at SMV & Jr. College, Pirale for four years, where I balanced academic leadership with classroom instruction. In my role as Vice Principal, I was responsible for coordinating staff, overseeing academic planning, and supporting student discipline and development. Alongside my administrative duties, I taught English at the junior college level, designing engaging lessons that improved students' communication skills and academic performance. My dual role allowed me to contribute to both the strategic and educational growth of the institution.
